

Looked at existing data sets for skin microbiome and then used this to improve a preliminary model of a few species interacting on the surface of the skin (Agent-based)